is the Manager, Legal Talent, Student Recruitment & Development at Lenczner Slaght.

Hannah leads the firm's student recruitment and development programs, overseeing all aspects of the firm's annual recruitment process, attracting exceptional law students from across Canada who want to build careers in advocacy. She represents the firm at law schools nationwide and builds lasting relationships with students, career offices, and student organizations.

Once students join the firm, Hannah oversees every aspect of the summer and articling experience, including onboarding, work allocation, mentorship, coaching, feedback, and career guidance. She connects students with the firm's leading litigators to ensure they build the confidence, skills, and judgment they will rely on as great advocates.

Prior to joining Lenczner Slaght, Hannah practiced for over a decade at a leading Canadian business law firm, focusing on health regulatory and advocacy matters. There, she led the firm's women's initiatives for several years, was actively involved in student recruitment and mentorship, and was a regular pro bono volunteer.
