AI Disputes: What Are They, Where Do They Arise and What Challenges Do They Pose?

Monique Jilesen will share her expertise at the International Bar Association's Annual Conference in a session titled, AI Disputes: What Are They, Where Do They Arise and What Challenges Do They Pose? Monique will discuss disputes arising from the development and integration of AI technology into other products and services, including issues of liability that may involve multiple parties across the AI supply chain. She will also address the advantages and limitations of arbitrating versus litigating these disputes.
