ANGELA HOU

is an associate at Lenczner Slaght.

Angela summered and articulated at the firm, where she gained experience in professional liability and public law matters, class actions, and employment disputes.

Angela graduated from the University of Toronto Faculty of Law. She received the H. Carl Goldenberg Award in Labour Law and University of Toronto Student Leadership Award (the Gordon Cressy Award) for her commitment and service to the Faculty of Law. Angela was a caseworker at Advocates for Injured Workers, where she represented clients before the Workplace Safety and Insurance Board and the Workplace Safety and Insurance Appeals Tribunal.

Angela's commitment to oral advocacy runs deep. She represented the University of Toronto in the 2019 Julius Alexander Isaac Moot, with her team placing second overall. She returned to coach the Isaac Moot the following year.

Angela is from Vancouver, British Columbia and moved to the East Coast to complete her undergraduate degree in International Development Studies and Political Science at Dalhousie University. While at Dalhousie, she served on the Senate Discipline Committee, where she adjudicated academic and Code of Conduct offences.

- Journal of Law & Equality – Angela Hou was co-Editor in Chief of the Journal of Law & Equality, Vol. 16 No. 1 (2020).

BLOG POSTS

- Recall Remedy Once Again Preferable to Class Action – History has shown that recalls for product defects are often followed by a proposed class action lawsuit. While many products cases in that context have been certified, we have now seen certification of proposed class actions being denied on the basis that there is already an effective recall campaign in place. We have seen this in Maginnis and Magnaye v FCA Canada et al and Richardson v Samsung.
