Anil Partridge

ANIL PARTRIDGE

Anil Partridge is a Lawyer License Processing Candidate.

Anil's practice encompasses a broad range of commercial litigation, intellectual property, defamation, professional liability, and public law matters.

Prior to joining Lenczner Slaght, Anil practiced at two top international law firms in New York City, where he gained extensive experience across a wide range of matters, including high-stakes copyright infringement litigation, shareholder disputes, and large international M&A transactions, achieving positive results for clients.

Anil completed his JD at Harvard Law School. During law school, he provided pro bono legal services to musicians as President of Harvard's Recording Artists Project. He also served as a Teaching Fellow for intellectual property courses at Harvard Law School and the "Justice" course in philosophy at Harvard University. In addition, he served as a legal intern at National Public Radio and the American Civil Liberties Union, where he contributed to constitutional advocacy efforts, including a First Amendment case that was successfully argued at the Supreme Court.

Anil holds an Honours Bachelor of Arts with High Distinction from the University of Toronto, where he served as a Teaching Assistant in philosophy and played violin in the Hart House Orchestra.
