Eliza Glady

is a summer student at Lenczner Slaght.

Eliza is a JD candidate at Western University, Faculty of Law. Eliza has been deeply involved in the Western Law community, including as a volunteer with the Community Legal Services Clinic and Pro Bono Students Canada. In her second year, she took on a leadership role as Project Lead for Project Consent at Pro Bono Students Canada, providing public legal education presentations for young people in the London and Thames Valley community. She also earned the top mark in the property law course, winning the Albert Osterhoff Award in Property Law.

Eliza also serves as a teaching assistant for a first-year Legal Research, Writing, and Advocacy class, and has successfully competed in numerous trial and appellate advocacy competitions. She has achieved Top Oralist at Western Law's First Year Advocacy Competition and placed as a National Finalist at the Philip C. Jessup Moot Court Competition in International Law.

Prior to law school, Eliza completed her Honours Bachelor of Arts with High Distinction at the University of Toronto, majoring in both English and Women and Gender Studies.
