Appeals 1

October 2, 2020

Decision on sufficiency of reasons highlights need to be specific in submissions: lawyer lan MacLeod is quoted in The Lawyer's Daily article Decision on sufficiency of reasons highlights need to be specific in submissions: lawyer. The article discusses the Ontario Court of Appeal's decision to order a new trial because the trial judge's reasons for his decisions were insufficient to form the basis for a "meaningful" appellate review.

Continue reading:

https://www.thelawyersdaily.ca/business/articles/21224/decision-on-sufficiency-of-reasons-highlights-need-to-be-specific-in-submissions-lawyer

