

Paul-Erik Veel
416-865-2842
pveel@litigate.com

March 30, 2026

New Private Rights of Action and Higher Penalties under Competition Act Increase Business Risk

Paul-Erik Veel was interviewed by Canadian Lawyer Magazine for their article on recent Competition Act amendments and their impact on enforcement in Canada. Paul-Erik discussed how the changes expand the pathways for private parties to bring claims, make it easier for the commissioner to prove cases, and open new avenues for litigation, while also highlighting the growing risks associated with algorithmic pricing and data-driven conduct.

Continue reading:

https://www.canadianlawyermag.com/practice-areas/corporate-commercial/new-private-rights-of-action-and-higher-penalties-under-competition-act-increase-business-risk/393907?hsmemberId=contacthsid&tu=CONTACT.EMAILMID&utm\_content=CL-NS&utm\_content=CONTACT.EMAILMID&utm\_medium=social&utm\_source=19094862