Patrick Wright Joins Lenczner Slaght

Canada's leading litigation firm continues to attract top talent.

Lenczner Slaght is pleased to announce Patrick Wright has joined the firm as Counsel.

Prior to joining Lenczner Slaght, Patrick worked at a national law firm in Sydney, Australia where he acted for health professionals facing complex medical malpractice claims and disciplinary proceedings. He regularly appeared before the New South Wales Supreme Court and New South Wales District Court, Sydney.

Patrick's litigation practice focuses on public and administrative law, with a particular emphasis on professional liability and regulation.
