Re-writing the Playbook: Top 10 Civil Litigation Boutiques

In the latest InHouse feature, Canadian Lawyer once again highlights the firms from their Top 10 Civil Litigation Boutiques in Canada list.

Managing Partner, Tom Curry, was interviewed about the recent work the firm has done:

Since Canadian Lawyer last published the Top Civil Litigation Boutiques list, Lenczner Slaght has continued to be extraordinarily busy. “This has been an exciting time for our whole team. We have continued to operate at full tilt through the pandemic,” says managing partner Tom Curry. “In the last year, our lawyers have conducted virtual trials and appeals, set precedents, helped modernize the justice system, and utilized new technology to advance our cases for clients across the country.”

Canadian Lawyer also spoke to Paul-Erik Veel, lead of our recently launched Data-Driven Decisions program, on why we’re making research and empirical data a key part of our litigation strategy.

“Data-Driven Decisions is a comprehensive program to harness data in order to provide exceptional advocacy and strategic advice to our clients,” says Paul-Erik Veel, who leads the project. “Sophisticated clients expect sophisticated answers grounded in actual empirical data, and this program will help us deliver that.”
