July 1, 2020

Supreme Court of Canada Deals Blow to Uber, Declares Arbitration Clauses Invalid as a Result of â€˜Surge Pricingâ€™

Published in the Kluwer Arbitration Blog, Chris Kinnear Hunter authors an article on the legacy of the Supreme Court of Canada's highly anticipated decision in Uber Technologies Inc v Heller. Chris discusses how the decision has significant implications for international businesses by placing significant limits on the application of arbitration clauses.

Continue reading:
http://arbitrationblog.kluwerarbitration.com/2020/07/01/supreme-court-of-canada-deals-blow-to-uber-declares-arbitration-clauses-invalid-as-a-result-of-surge-pricing/?doing_wp_cron=1593611353.6909060478210449218750