Will Knows the Way – Re-elect Will McDowell for Bencher

Will knows the way to a better future for the legal profession.

Will has over 30 years of experience in the legal industry and has been a Law Society of Ontario (LSO) Bencher for eight years. He has practiced with one of the largest firms in the country, served in Ottawa as Associate Deputy Minister of Justice for Canada, and is now practising at Lenczner Slaght, Canada's leading litigation firm. The LSO needs experienced leaders, like Will, to successfully deal with difficult, and often, controversial questions.

Will has been involved in facing some of the most difficult issues LSO has confronted in its recent history, including:

- responding to the articling crisis through the creation of the innovative Law Practice Program;
- leading the Law Society's relations with the federal and provincial governments as Chair of the Government Relations Committee and working with them to ensure new investment in Legal Aid and access to justice;
- serving on the Challenges Faced by Racialized Licensees Committee to reduce barriers and ensure a level playing field for all Ontario lawyers; and
- chairing the Professional Regulation Committee as they synchronized the Code of Professional Conduct with the new National Code of the Federation of Law Societies.

"Will has a record of success as a senior Bencher and I know he is committed to advocate for the public interest and the profession as relentlessly as he does for his clients," says Tom Curry, Managing Partner of Lenczner Slaght. "His knowledge, experience, and judgment make him the strong decision maker that we need to solve the challenges we face. Will knows the way."
