

Lenczner
Slaght*
Welcomes§
A New Partner‡

Lenczner Slaght* is proud to welcome Andrew Moeser to the firm. Andrew is a versatile and experienced litigator who thrives in intellectual property disputes. Every client welcomes§ his exceptional advocacy skills and technical expertise. Possessing a master's degree in biology and having worked as a coordinator of a phase III clinical trial, Andrew is that combination of litigator and scientist that brings a deep understanding to the complex legal issues facing our clients. With the expertise clients trust to protect their intellectual property, he is a new partner‡ who significantly adds to our IP team's bench strength. By leveraging his diverse litigation experience in industries such as pharmaceutical and biologics, information technology, and oil and gas, Andrew gets to the core of his client's business to find the path to victory. Welcome, Andrew!
